A front line in the fight against corporate dominated globalization is occurring right now just below the US/Mexico border in Tijuana. The struggle of workers in the maquiladora industry to achieve their labor and human rights will have an impact throughout the continent. The participants in this panel are major players in this growing movement. Come hear the evening panelists at the DSA Western Regional Conference panel, starting at 7 pm. We will hear how cooperation between activists on both sides of the border plays a key role in the struggle. March 5 will be a full day of informative discussion and all are welcome. The Democratic Socialists of America will be talking about critical topics that concern us all.
